Bell Dental Arts

Dr. Thomas Bell was born in Frankfurt, Germany, on the U.S. Army base where both of his parents proudly served. He earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Kentucky and went on to study dentistry at the University of Louisville, receiving his Doctor of Dental Medicine in 2005.

Today, Dr. Bell is a highly respected and entrepreneurial dentist leading a thriving group of practices in Tucson, Arizona. Under his guidance, carefully selected associates provide comprehensive general and restorative care grounded in evidence-based practice. Dr. Bell has continually expanded his clinical expertise through advanced training in cosmetic dentistry, implant restoration, and minimally invasive techniques. His commitment to mentorship and ongoing education ensures that every patient within his dental group benefits from the latest innovations in dental technology and best-practice care.

Dr. Bell is known for his open, approachable manner and his ability to make associates, team members, and patients feel genuinely supported. He takes time to understand each individual's goals and concerns, resulting in customized treatment plans that promote both oral health and overall well-being. From routine preventive care to complex restorative procedures, his dental group approaches every case with precision, integrity, and a dedication to long-term results.

Beyond his clinical leadership, Dr. Bell is active in professional dental organizations and contributes to community outreach programs that advance oral health education. When he is not caring for patients, he enjoys lifelong learning, exploring the natural beauty of Southern Arizona, and spending time with his family—whether supporting his children's sporting events, playing with his three Great Danes, or traveling together.

Dr. Bell and his family have made Tucson their home since 2015. His wife, Julie, is an anesthesiologist, and together they have two children, Johnathan and Christina. He is a member of the American Dental Association and a proud sponsor of the Tucson Purple Heart Program.
